Although the poems of Alexander Pope are seldom read at the present day, people without knowing it, quote him more frequently than any other author or book, with the exception, the Bible, Byron, Isaac Watts, Benjamin Franklin and Æsop. The following list of quotations will give some idea of his popularity in this regard:

Points of a Good Cow.

Mr. Henry Stewart, in the Rural New Yorker, gives the following as the chief characteristics of a good cow-the points being so well de fined that any one can make the selections. They are also in accordance with the results of experience: "The extremities should be deli cately formed; the tail long and thin, except at its root, which should be large and strong; the muzzle should be fine; the head long, flat and thin, but broad across the eyes, to give room for a large brain, which is the foundation for a highly developed and active nervous system; the horns fine, thin and nearly curved; the eyes bright and active, agreeing with the active brain, but calm, quiet and mild in expression, significant of a quiet, contented disposition and one not easily disturbed or worried. As the secretions of the body all come from the blood, and as a rich. yellow color is desired in the butter, go out of fashion. so the skin should be filled with a yellow pigment, and the inside of the ears and the thighs, and the other places where the hair is light and skin plainly visible, should be of a The hair should be fine, smooth and silky; and in short the whole ap pearance should be satisfying to the eye and consistent one part with another and well balanced."

Some very interesting statistics have been published by the society for promoting the use of horse flesh and the flesh of asses and mules as food, showing how steadily the conbeen increased in Paris and the prosociety in 1856. The weight has increased from 171,000 pounds in 1856 to 1,982,629 pounds in 1876. In the principal cities of the provinces the consumption of horse flesh may be 291 in 1874, 423 in 1876 and 384 in 1878; at Lyons 1,839 in 1873 and symptoms, and is now rosy and healthy. 1,313 in 1875, In both the latter cases some difficulties had been thrown in the way by the town authorities, as was the case recently at & Son, Philadelphia. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Ir is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigon cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair The Vigor is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.
